If you have read a book on "the mob," written by the late Prof. Shadrach, the horrors of the Spanish civil war will not surprise you. That war and its atrocities, the horrible, and often cowardly killing of unarmed men and even women, is merely the development of the "mob spirit" on a gigantic scale. Of all crimes the most deadly, vicious element in the human mind is class hatred, political hatred, religious hatred. Only now have we seen, and even then, it is injected here and there, despite the lack of any extensive raw material.

Goya, the great Spanish painter, in twenty-four etchings, showed what were once considered the most horrible pictures of war and slaughter ever conceived. But Goya at the end of the war, as the learned literary Abel Hermant suggests, could not put into all his powerful pictures one-fourth the power in words borne in the mind of the observer contained in one single snapshot of some unhappy Spaniard, run, ruthlessly driven out of his grave, or the photograph of some blindfolded and bound, suspected of not sympathizing with the political party back of the gun that blew out his brains.

Among all the hatreds that drive man to brutal savagery, religious hatred is perhaps the worst; and of all religious hatreds the hatred between the different branches of the same religion is sometimes most bitter. This is evoked by your mind by the recent murder in Algiers of the Mohammedan Mufti, Ben Dal Mahmoud.

Ben Dal Mahmoud, head of the Mohammedan church in Algiers, had some conservative ideas opposed to the young party of French whose motto is "Islam and Mohammed" above everything in the world.

It would be useless for those that have other beliefs to tell their young Mohammedan brethren of the Uthma party that their activities are based on a mistake, that Mohammed never rode up to heaven on his white mare Al-Buraq, never saw angels so big that their eyes were one day's journey apart, never threw a handful of dust into the air and had it changed into mounted angels to bear him to fight with him.

To tell them, according to historic record, Mohammed could neither read nor write in all probability and his book was written for him by an educated Jew, who obligingly mixed up all sorts of religions in the Koran, would get you into trouble.

Those that thought the Mufti, Chief Mohammedan authority in Algiers, was not a good enough Mohammedan decided to kill him. It is the custom of a young Mohammedan meeting the great Mufti to kiss the latter on the forehead, as a sign of respect, as in other religions it is customary to prostrate oneself before a great religious authority.

One young Arab, who is now in jail, walked up to the Mufti, who obligingly lowered his head to him, and kissed him on the forehead. Another young Arab, who had followed him, saw this and, thinking the Mufti was about to kiss him, walked up to him and, with the back and hand of his right hand, he struck the Mufti on the forehead, and he died without uttering a sound.

Others are implicated including the important Sheikh El Oukh, who put in the French authorities that he killed the Mufti. The young murderer confessed that he killed the Mufti, and he had promised him 20,000 francs.

The most repulsive part of the religious-political and class assassination, is the cowardice, the lack of the murders and persecutions. Let those that would like the idea of "my against me" consider the Jewish World Congress recently called together in Geneva, the first world congress of Jews ever held.

That gathering, representing all of the Jews of the whole world, represented about fifty million men, women and children. There are no more in all the countries, by far the greatest number being in the United States, fortunately for progress and comfort here.

WAR VETERANS IN CHOICE FOR DEAN'S POST

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP)—Three veterans of the World War were mentioned prominently today in speculation over the probable successor to the late George H. Dern as Secretary of War.

They were Frank Murphy, high commissioner to the Philippines; Charles E. McNair, Governor of Indiana; and Charles L. McNair, Mayor of New York.

There was no official indication, however, as to whether President Roosevelt might have in mind for the cabinet post, but whether he would designate the new member of his official family home or for the November election.

Some expressed the belief that if Murphy was appointed, he would be eliminated from consideration for the war portfolio.

An attorney and former mayor of Detroit, Murphy served as a captain of infantry in the American Expeditionary Force during the war.

Governor McNair entered only recently with President Roosevelt about the special train carrying the chief executive on an inspection trip of the district.

Like Murphy, the Indiana executive long has interested himself in national defense and served as a member of the National Committee of the American Legion.

Mayor McNair, a native of the World War, was elected once to a Senate seat and later to a Congress seat, representing the State of New York.

Approached today in New York on the question of the appointment, Mayor McNair said he had a contract with the people of the city of New York, set for December, 1937, subject to renewal, optional with both sides.

SEATTLE TERRORISM TOLL IN DETAIL Newspaper Employees Beaten by Gangsters During Reign of Lawlessness

Seattle, Aug. 27.—The complete story of the reign of terror which followed the Post-Intelligencer's suspension of publication August 13 is a tale of bloodshed, terror, and the deaths of many workers and members of the editorial staff.

It is a story of beatings administered by night gangs to legal employees who only came to work to do their jobs. It is a story of intimidation and threats of death and destruction.

Many of the details of what occurred August 13 and the early morning hours of August 14 have been disclosed only gradually and reluctantly by those who were present. They have been further revealed at the hands of police and judges.

It was for that reason and the very fact that many of the employees of the Post-Intelligencer were held in prison in the editorial department of the paper, that the Post-Intelligencer would not attempt to publish under conditions which exposed the employees to physical harm and imperiled their very lives.

Facts Revealed

Here are the highlights of what occurred, based on a report by the Post-Intelligencer, which was obtained from the editorial department of the paper, that the Post-Intelligencer would not attempt to publish under conditions which exposed the employees to physical harm and imperiled their very lives.

At least for employees of the Post-Intelligencer, the situation was not as simple as it seemed. The Post-Intelligencer was not a newspaper, but a newspaper. It was not a newspaper, but a newspaper. It was not a newspaper, but a newspaper.

Hollywood, Aug. 28 (UPI)—"Women of Hollywood are the most beautiful women in the world," Dr. Alfred Adler, pioneer Vienna and New York psychiatrist, looked over his pictures yesterday and said that today with enthusiasm in his voice.

REGISTRATION G. O. P. DRIVE PRAISED

Satisfaction from an organization standpoint over the results of the recent registration was voiced by Chairman Shirley Weeks of the Republican State Committee at a session of the committee at the State Ballroom.

Chairman Weeks said that there is reason to believe that the trend in the Republican cause in this state, "which has been in evidence" upon the receipt of complete final figures of registration from all over the state.

Weeks cited as an example of registration favorable to the Republicans the results in Brookline where 2100 names had been added in the spring lists, including 600 added before the preliminary conventions.

At least 2000 more names would be added to this Republican stronghold when registration is resumed for the November election, he reported.

The Brookline registration this year it was further pointed out, is the first time since 1920 that the number of names registered has been higher than in the two previous presidential years.

The chairman subsequently mentioned that much of the Republican optimism over registration is based on results from such cities as Boston, Worcester and North Adams where registrations were in comparison of 60 per cent Republican to 40 per cent Democratic.

He pointed out that in Brookline 1000 of 1000 names were added in the spring lists, 400 added in North Adams and 200 in Worcester. He said he has been informed that there were 400 more Republicans registered in Watertown than Democrats.

Divorcee Quizzed In Bar Purse Theft

Police today questioned a divorcee in connection with the theft of $100 from the purse of Mrs. H. G. Smith, 1000 State St., at a downtown bar, Monday night.

Mrs. Smith, 40, was the only woman who attended the American Bar Association convention with her husband.

Police notified eight other women owners of purses who were present at the bar and asked them to identify the woman who had stolen the money. After they failed to identify her she was released on bail.

Groton, Conn., Aug. 28.—State police picked up a Groton man today for questioning in the mysterious death of Nicholas P. Bergeron of Groton.

Bergeron's body was found in the Upper Harbor river, in six inches of water. He was killed by a blow on the head, according to Medical Examiner John R. Beebe.

Vatican Visitor Finds:

Pope Barely Able To Speak, Walk

(Editor's Note: Seriously weakened by surgery and sleeplessness caused by persecution of Catholics in Spain, Pope XI nevertheless is carrying on his duties at the summer Vatican, Castel Gandolfo. With permission of Vatican authorities, International News Service today influenced the Pontiff's daily routine at his home. Following is an unobtrusive description of the Pope's condition.)

By FRANK GERVASI

International News Service Staff Correspondent

Castel Gandolfo, Italy, Aug. 28.—Strain of worry over the fate of his church at the hands of Red terrorists in Spain has materially impaired the health of Pope Pius XI.

This International News Service is able to state following a first-hand study of the routine of His Holiness as he went through today's formalities of receiving in audience functionaries, peasants, churchmen and pilgrims.

The Pope is markedly more feeble than he was last January when this correspondent saw him in a nearby doctor's office at the opening of the new Vatican Radio office.

Speaks Painfully

His step is measured, slow and extremely painful.

At a distance of less than five paces he barely walks.

Having after several days of mild illness, the Pope with almost effort went through the ritual of receiving several scores of visitors.

Then, fatigued by his strenuous morning, the Pope retired to his apartment at 11 a. m., ordering his personal staff to leave him undisturbed.

He cancelled his usual luncheon party in the hotel of the castle garden where his daughter had presided to help comfort her "nervous attacks."

This correspondent granted the rare privilege of seeing the pope's summer palace for more than two hours, with the aim of observing the morning routine of the Pope, along with his secretary and personal physician and secretary, accounts the state of his health, which is unfortunately proved to be failing.

Glimpses of the Pope as he

Death at Barricade—With More Work to Do

In front of this barricade in battle-torn San Sebastian lies a dead comrade. Peering over the Red volunteers. The International News Service cameraman risked his life to get this vivid picture. In this section of Northern Spain heavy toll of death on both sides has been reported.

Pilgrims crowded in the darkness and shuffled in their shoes as the Pope, walking unaided, entered.

REBELS LAUNCH NEW DRIVE ON MADRID 'KEY'

Madrid, Aug. 28 (UPI).—With increasingly heavy casualties reported, Spanish rebel forces under General Emilio Mola launched their third day's attack upon the mountain passes guarding Madrid today as another air raid on the capital proved abortive.

An insurgent plane swept over the Getafe airfield at daybreak, dropping several bombs. A brief war airplane communication said:

"At daybreak a Rebel airplane dropped bombs on Getafe Airfield without result. Our anti-aircraft artillery fired and the plane fled."

Rebel artillery and aircraft participated in the strong offensive against the passes at Guadarrama and Somosierra, the 12,000 of government troops, including Mexican militiamen, artillery and aviation corps, stood maintained their positions.

The government reported the situation on other fronts stationary except at Iru, where it was claimed the insurgents have lost more than 400 dead and 1900 wounded in two days.

CADIZ SHELLED

A large number of rebel civil guards and soldiers, fleeing from Oviedo, deserted the insurgents and went over to the government, it was claimed.

At the same time, Madrid officials proclaimed the province of Toledo and Caceres "war zones."

The radio announced the government's decision to repair the battered conclusion of its repairs by shelling the rebel stronghold of Cadiz.

It further claimed a government submarine sank two rebel vessels near Huelva.

Reports received here said rebel airplanes which flew over the streets of Gibraltar exchanged shots with patrolling government destroyers.

Advices from Barcelona claimed Catalan forces were advancing toward Teruel after having taken their objectives at Puerto Escudero.

Foreign envoys here met to decide whether to depart to Alicante. The majority voted against departure.

After six weeks of civil war on one side in front, the government allowed to assume a centralized united command of all military operations, applying to land, sea and air forces.

All military operations will be directed from Madrid.

did. This step is taken as an indication the government will attempt to end the rebellion with even greater vigor.

Henday, France, Aug. 28 (UPI).—Edmond, by staff assistance of his Spanish forces at their stronghold at Iru on the Bay of Biscay, refused more, more, claiming their desperate struggle to capture the city today.

Having fought for two days of bloody fighting on land and in the air to take the city, the insurgents opened up today's attack at dawn from the sea with a naval force.

New England Truck Owners Speak From Experience!

READ WHAT THEY HAVE TO SAY ABOUT FORD V-8 TRUCK ECONOMY

"FINEST TRANSPORTATION AT MINIMUM COST"

"Our four Ford V-8 trucks are of the greatest assistance to us in maintaining our reputation for prompt delivery service. These V-8's are possessed of plenty of power and speed, enabling our drivers to make their trips in the shortest space of time. The small initial cost and low operating and maintenance charges allow us to have the finest transportation at minimum cost."

(Signed) Harry G. Woodbury, Treas., HARRIS LUMBER COMPANY, INC., PROVIDENCE, R. I.

"DOES THE WORK OF BIGGER TRUCKS—AND DOES IT BETTER"

"My new 1936 Ford V-8 is the finest truck I have yet to operate in my trucking business. It is surprising the speed and power which this unit possesses—even when carrying upward of four tons. Larger and higher priced units which I have operated in the past did not have the ability to get over the road with loads which this Ford has demonstrated. Operating costs are low, gasoline mileage excellent and no oil between changes."

(Signed) Owen Farrell, Prop., MERRILL'S EXPRESS, PORTLAND, MAINE.

"VALUE FAR BEYOND THE PRICE"

"I have been using my new 1936 Ford V-8 hauling granite rip-rap used in flood reconstruction work, and must say the performance of this unit, plus economy of operation, have convinced me of what is meant by 'Value Far Beyond The Price.'"

"In addition to my new truck I am operating a Ford 1929 truck which has gone over 100,000 miles. This particular unit I am using for hauling 4 and 6 tons of granite in and about our yards."

(Signed) George E. Shirley, MANCHESTER, N. H.

"MOVING COMPANY MAKES DOUBLE SAVING WITH TRACTOR-TRAILER UNIT"

"Through the use of a Ford tractor and trailer unit we have been able to eliminate the need for a separate unit for vehicle suitable for our moving needs at less than half the cost of a similar unit of another make. The operating cost is considerably lower, so we gain both ways."

"The V-8 has plenty of power and speed for this operation and makes an ideal unit for moving vans."

"MORE ECONOMICAL DELIVERIES—AND MORE OF THEM"

"Previous Ford units which we have operated always have given us the greatest satisfaction, but the 1936 units by far have exceeded our greatest expectations."

"The Ford V-8 is a very economical truck to operate, and its speed and power enable us to make more deliveries than were possible with larger and heavier units."

(Signed) Edward E. Noy, OIL BURNER SERVICE CO., SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

Brookline Takes Society Spotlight For One Brief Week

By BETTY ALDEN

BROOKLINE IS TEMPORARILY TAKING THE spotlight away from the summer resorts... for a brief week before everyone goes back to mountains and shore for one more full week of summer sports before Labor Day sounds the knell of another vacation season... Yesterday's activities began with the large luncheon at the Country Club which was given in honor of the visiting law firm of Messrs. Sherburne, Fenner & Smith, who were in town for some seven hundred attended the luncheon and fashion show which lasted well into the afternoon...

CHARLOTTE SHERBURNE

Mrs. A. Barry Constock, chairman of the group, who sponsored the event, had the able assistance of Mrs. John G. Palmer, Mrs. Albert C. Barrage, Jr., Mrs. Homer Albers, Mrs. Lynn Weyburn, Mrs. Whiting Willauer and a number of other prominent socialites...

Helen Jacobs Stops Over for Lunch

HELEN JACOBS and Sarah Palfrey Fabian stopped in at The Country Club for a luncheon at the Longwood Cricket Club for their match with Kay Stammers and Alice Marble... which by the way, turned out to be one of the most tensely exciting and hard-fought contests of the play so far in the doubles tournament...

Close Madder the little 13-year-old only who hide well to become a tennis champion herself one day, doesn't try to conceal her admiration for Miss Jacobs and Mrs. Fabian, and her face was wreathed in smiles when she found them at the Country Club... Closest inter joined with gallery at Longwood as did Mrs. Alexander Whitehead, Nancy and Cynthia Bourgeois and Mrs. Palfrey, all of whom had luncheon at the Country Club...

Dr. and Mrs. William E. Ladd of Milton and their companions were intensely interested in the difficult tilt between Jacobs and Fabian and Stammers and Marble in which Jacobs and Fabian finally won their match and got their revenge on the team that defeated them last Sunday at Essex County Club...

Ladd were a busy suit, its jackets lined with a finely quilted taffeta to match the taffeta crown on her brimmed blue straw hat... Numbers of their friends climbed up in the stands to greet them with "Hello Westerners"...

Charlotte Sherburne and Fiance Present

CHARLOTTE SHERBURNE and her fiance, Eddie Ropes, have set the date as November 7, at in the entry bleachers watching the play... Charlotte in a pastel flowered silk with bright blue and red ribbons on her hat to match her wide tash...

The matches will always be remembered by Nannie Shaw, because it was probably the last tennis she will see before she becomes the bride of Donald Outler, Jr., next Wednesday... Dan was with her, guiding her about to speak to various North Shore friends...

Mrs. Marshall Dwinell, Priscilla Simons and her companions, were practically blown out of the cool shady bleachers down into some sunny spots where they basked in the warmth of the sun... and stayed till the last...

Everybody takes it for granted that Richard Ely Danielson and Clement Burkhams will be at the tennis matches, for they are just as enthusiastically about the sport as they are about dogs and horses... to which sports they also give their faithful and willing support...

Hint of Fall Brings Out Travel Coats

ELEANOR SWIFT was a bright little figure in her butterfly yellow linen frock and turquoise coat... while Ginny Phelan, Mrs. Robert Herrick, Jr., her daughter, Peggy Pierce, and Mrs. James Jackson were more attired in their dark street dresses and wooly coats... Mrs. Wylie Pierce, who was with Ginny Phelan, wore a navy taffeta coat over her dark printed silk dress...

Mrs. Benjamin A. G. Thordike had a fuzzy white coat with her pink dress and hat and Serita Bartlett Winthrop, who sat with Nat and Kay up in the top row, wore a flame colored angora coat...

The hint of fall in the air brought out several travel coats, but probably none any better looking than Bella Gardner's Duobonnet and Alice blue plaid, worn over a plain blue hat, with a jaunty blue feather stuck through the crown of her Duobonnet velours hat...

Mrs. Gelson King was also attired in a dark print with bright green accents, and Anne Whipple and Mary Wilson from Cohasset were in summery cottons with pastel tweed coats...

Rockport Garden Show Prize Winners Named

Mrs. Charles H. Borgegum, a judge serving in place of Mrs. Theodore of the Gloucester Garden Club, Mrs. Marion Theberge of the Longwood Garden Club, and as judge at the eighth flower show at the Rockport Garden Club, which was held at the community house Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Arthur Merrill, Mrs. Winthrop Francis H. Jones, and Mrs. Mary T. W. Weston, Cape Ann Garden Club, was also and Mrs. Nicola D'Amico.

INTERESTED IN TENNIS CONTESTS

Miss Mary O. (Polly) Morrill takes a keen delight in watching the current tennis tourney at Longwood, for she learned the fine points of the game from her sister, Mrs. Whitfield Palmer, who was one of the feminine stars of the tennis world a few years ago. Miss Morrill is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morrill of Dedham.

North Shore DOG SHOW ON Tomorrow

Every dog has his day, and tomorrow has been set aside for the annual dog show at the North Shore Kennel Club, which will hold its annual dog show at the Longwood Cricket Club pool field for the benefit of the Beverly Hospital. The show will be held from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. and will feature a variety of breeds, including English bulldogs, poodles, and many others. The proceeds will be used for the hospital's medical equipment.

Hull Season ENDING WITH Gala Ball

Hull is climaxed a very gay summer with its annual gala day weekend. Tennis tournament has been the feature of the week's activities at this popular summer playground and the finale will be played off tomorrow.

Confidential with the tournament was the beauty contest... title of "Miss Tennis"... being conferred on the fortunate winner who would be acclaimed the most attractive.

Sue Reynolds, who is summering with Mrs. Pringle O'Leary at her home on Hull Island, was awarded the title.

The climax of the week's interesting program will be the gala day ball slated for this evening at Penderlin Inn. This entire season marks the end of the summer season and guests will run high... excitement is king at the party wind-up of the season.

Many of the vacationers are entertaining out-of-town guests and many more are entertaining at dinner before the dance.

"THE BOY CASTAWAYS" BY JULES VERNE

THE BOY CASTAWAYS

CHAPTER I

It was a fine day in the month of June, and the sun shone brightly on the sea. A small boat, with a single sail, was seen in the distance. It was a boat of the kind that is used by the fishermen of the coast. The boat was small, but it was fast, and it was well equipped for the work that it was to do. The boat was seen by a group of men who were standing on the shore. They were men of the coast, and they were used to seeing such boats. They were men who were used to the sea, and they were men who were used to the work that the boat was to do. They were men who were used to the sea, and they were men who were used to the work that the boat was to do.

LOSS CUT

Bay State RAILWAY Reports

By HUGH F. BRADSHAW
The Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway report for July reveals a small loss for the month and a profit for the year to date.

Even the loss shown for July is susceptible to misinterpretation. For one, a slightly better than $2000 gain in operating revenues over July 1935 returns the line to break-even.

In the seven months of the year Eastern has netted $2000 less than the loss of the year ended June 30, 1935, with $1000 per month in the last seven months of 1935. At the same time most of the operating expenses have been reduced.

The latest report from the New England Transportation Commission shows that the company's 1935 operating loss was $2000 less than last year's.

Chiefly the reasons for the loss are the New England Transportation Commission's 1935 operating loss was $2000 less than last year's.

For the year to date, the company's 1935 operating loss was $2000 less than last year's.

Whether the loss is due to the fact that the company's 1935 operating loss was $2000 less than last year's.

Tricked Talk. The market from a technical standpoint is looking up from very logical resistance areas.
